

eHealth Innovation Days 2018 in Flensburg

6 and 7 September 2018

Paving the way

11 July 2018

The 3rd eHealth Innovation Days will take place on 6 and 7 September 2018 at Flensburg University of Applied Sciences (FUAS). The main topic this year will be “Open Healthcare” which highlights the importance of the participatory and cooperative aspects of eHealth and related disciplines.

The first contributions to the programme have been published already and while the rest will follow soon, we would like to present the first presentation topics, including our two keynotes:

- Bridging the gap between patient empowerment and health services' co-production: A new way for open health care?
by Rocco Palumbo, University of Salerno, Italy
- Sustainability in design: On the organizational and temporal complexity of e-health innovations
by Troels Mønsted, University of Oslo, Norway

The conference's guiding theme of co-design will be taken up in the keynotes but other topics like telemedicine, innovative projects, project continuations, and companies, start-ups and networking endeavours will be covered by our expert speakers as well.

Aside from the presentations, the networking aspects will not be neglected: On the evening of the conference's first day there will be plenty of time and opportunity to socialize and have conversations to network and exchange ideas for cooperation in an informal and relaxed atmosphere at a big social event. Additionally, there will be coffee breaks and room for exchange.

Register now and become part of the growing eHealth Innovation Days!

The programme will be finalized soon and updates will be added to our website regularly. For further information visit us on <https://ehealth-innovation.net/> and spread the news – also via social media using #eHID2018.
